BEHIND THE JOB: Genetic Counsellor

What do they do?

Genetic Counsellors help individuals and families understand genetic conditions and risks. They provide information about inherited diseases, guide decision-making regarding genetic testing, and offer emotional support to those facing genetic health concerns.

What are their strengths?

- Strong knowledge of genetics
- Excellent counselling skills
- Ability to explain complex medical information in simple terms
- Empathy and emotional intelligence

How do they get started?

A Bachelor's degree in genetics, biology, or health sciences is essential, followed by a Master's in Genetic Counselling.
