ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF COUNTRY

We gather here today and acknowledge the traditional owners of the land, the Bunurong people, where Bunjil the creator watches over us.
We are thankful to the First Nations people for taking care of the land, a place where we live and learn.
We pay our respects to Elders past, present, and emerging.

With respect Ella and Atlanta

STUDENT VOICE

THE THREE COMPONENTS

Sharing thoughts and ideas in an environment underpinned by trust and respect.

Offering realistic suggestions
for the good of the whole.

Accepting responsibility for not only what you say, but what needs to be done.

VOICE & ASPIRATIONS

Initial reflection

Some of the school leaders and I went on an excursion to Bunjil Place at Narre Warren. We learnt about how to be a better captain and how to do small things that can make an impact on how to become an even better rolemodel in the future. Some of the main things we learnt about are racism, rights, diversity and we wrote poetry on tags that have been applied to us. We also played some improv games about learning how to act on the spot. Later at lunch time we had a visit from the Casey 360 Bus with video games in it. We also played some pickleball, jenga and we watched an amazing band perform for us.

Initial reflection

- “My initial thoughts was that this was going to be some random and boring leader excursion, but it turned out to be a really fun and exciting day. This excursion with my great friends definitely helped me become a better captain.” Bailey
- “My initial thoughts was that we were going to listen to people speak their mind.” Summer
- “My initial thoughts for this was that we would be learning to boost our confidence during meetings and assemblies and to be more fluent when speaking or to help us be better leaders.” Jackson
