

Nickolas And Caleb's Sleepover

"Is this game good?" Nickolas asked. "Yes it is," I said to Nickolas. After a while zombies and skeletons started to hoard around me as I revived Nick. Then we smashed them.

Someday years ago, Nickolas and I were playing Minecraft dungeons at his house because we were having a sleepover.

After lunch I was rushed to pack my bag. I got there and unloaded. We got out and the sparrows were chirping and sheep were baaing. The long grass tickled my legs.

When we got inside we went to the soft couch to play Fall Guys and Minecraft Dungeons. I kept falling off the map and Nicholas was dying at every checkpoint. I am bad at one game but unbelievably good at the other.

The pizza buns were delicious and so were the tacos at dinner. Nickolas and I started to scream. I screamed so much my voice started to fade. We went home and fell asleep in seconds.

I was so happy to be there because I love to play with him.

By Caleb.