

Tuesday, August 20th – Friday, August 23rd

In the last few newsletters there has been a lot of information about what is occurring during Book Week. Please see below for more details.

Children are welcome to join in as much as they would like to with competitions, but it would be wonderful if all children could have some type of costume for the Parade on Friday, August 23rd.

Bake a Book Competition - Friday, August 23rd

Bake/decorate a cake that connects to a character, scene or theme from one of your favourite books. This year you may like to use our Reading is Magic theme to get creative.

Here are some details you need to consider when entering the competition

- Design and decorate a cake YOURSELF (adults, can help with baking the cake or anything that requires adult supervision). Alternatively, you can purchase a base, the competition is about the decorations and link to books, not the taste of the cake.
- Drop off your cake in the hall at the start of the day and collect at the end of the day. The cakes will not be eaten at school.
- All creation is done at home
- You can enter the competition with friends or alone
- Have fun!

Arty Smarty Competition - Friday, August 23rd

Create a piece of art that connects to a character, scene or theme from one of your favourite books, or again...use our Reading is Magic theme

Here are some details you need to consider when entering the competition

- Design the art piece YOURSELF (adults can help with anything that requires adult supervision).
- Drop off your art in the hall at the start of the day and collect at the end of the day.
- All creation is done at home
- You can enter the competition with friends or alone
- Have fun!

St Bernard's Has Talent - Friday, August 23rd

This exciting adventure will take place in class for anyone that would like to come and show off their special talents...singing, dancing, juggling, ...bring it on! Make sure you have music or anything else you need to perform. Can't wait to celebrate you.
