

MONASH MINI MEDICINE ACADEMY DAY

Continued...

We were also all pleasantly surprised to see past St Joseph's College student, Mr Asare Amofo who is a third-year Medicine student currently on rounds in Mildura.

Students had the opportunity to work with 'Sim Man' who is a very expensive simulated patient. Students gave Sim Man a shot of adrenalin, checked pupils, listened for various breathing conditions and general medical observation checks including ECG and Oxygen saturation.

Students practiced stapling ham steaks to simulate a large open wound and all went through the Mildura Base Hospital emergency department and general wards.

A big thank you to Ms Carlie Storer from Monash and all of the medical students who facilitated practical sessions and openly provided subject suggestions and advice.

Thank you to Ms Jackie Gorman who accompanied the group with me.
