These interviews are part of the application process and a great way for you to shine as an individual.

Because ICMS is smaller than the traditional uni's, we want to get to know you as more than a name on an application form. We want to find out what your goals are. We want to learn about your interests. And we want to discover the unique qualities that could make you a great candidate for an early offer.

More information on the interview days will be provided closer to the date.

Application Interview Tips

These application interview tips will give you the inside scoop on what you may be asked, and how to prepare, for your college or university application interview.

Your university application interview is an important way for you and your prospective institution to find out if you are right for each other. Due to the large volume of applicants you'll find that the traditionally large universities are often unable to meet all their prospective students personally. They may have to rely solely on your ATAR ranking to tell them what they need to know about you

Under the ICMS Professional Scholarships Program, applicants will be considered for the ICMS Professional Scholarships, the ANZ Scholarship, HOSTPLUS Sports Management Scholarship, HOSTPLUS Hospitality Management Scholarship and Alceon Scholarship. Why it's okay to change your career path

As the closing date for university applications draws closer, many students start to panic about choosing their preferences — but it's not a once-and-for-all decision. It's not unusual to have a change of heart, even as you move into the workforce. After all, it's hard to know where your specific interests and strengths lie until you get started.

Being bi-lingual: The career advantages of knowing two languages

Australia is renowned for its cultural diversity, particularly in the major cities, yet only 21 per cent of the population speak more than one language. With this in mind, it shouldn't come as a surprise that employers view this fifth of the country as attractive prospects in the workforce.

Employability

The job market is as competitive as ever and employees sift through countless CVs when trying to fill positions. A second language is a sure-fire way to standing out from other applicants, regardless of the role. Even if the company deals exclusively with English-speaking clients and customers, a second language demonstrates a willingness to commit time and effort to learning. Read more advantages here:

Nutritionist vs Dietitian vs Sports Dietitian – Australia – by dietitian Aidan Muir

Outside of people within the profession, it is confusing what the differences are between nutritionists, dietitians, and sports dietitians.

I recall that even halfway through my university degree that was focused on providing the qualification of becoming an accredited practising dietitian, we got asked what the difference was from one of our lecturers and nobody in the room had a good answer. And regarding becoming a sports dietitian, I did not know the full requirements until near graduation, or maybe even slightly after.
