ISLAND ISLAND CREATIONAL STORY

God found a stone in the heavens and thought of giving life to the stone, making it a home for many. Out of all his creations, he decided to give the earth more land for the people of earth. He flew down to earth and planted the stone in the sea and with a wave of his hand it grew and grew till it was a small country. He planted twigs from the main land and planted them on the country and watched as it grew into a magnificent forest. He scooped a handful of water from the ocean and through it over the land making rivers and creating a rainy weather. He looked proudly at his work then realised that this country needed discipline so he pulled a hair from his head and blew it on to the ground creating a volcano which would erupt if too many sins were created. God flew to the heavens now finished with his work and watched the land begin.
