

COUGARS FACTS

By Diego and Zac - Cougar Facts (we worked hard at this!)

Cougars are big cats, in fact they are the fourth largest cat in the world.

Cougars eat deers, raccoons, birds and rabbits. Cougars have no predators or enemies (other than man). They also eat mountain sheep too. They are called mountain tigers because they resemble pumas.

Cougars live in deserts, mountainous terrains and rocky outcrops.

You can find them in Canada, India, United States, Mexico and Central America. And they are very interesting animals no wonder they are the logo of PUMA because on the logo it looks like a cougar any way let's go back to the facts and they are the best animals I have ever seen!.

Cougars are mostly solitary animals. But that does not mean they do not socialise. Cougars are mostly solitary animals. Cougars do not roar baby cougars have spots and blue eyes. Cougar can run faster than a moger. Cougars don't have claw marks on their prints. Cougars can live in the forest for up to 8 to 13 years in the wild. Cougars can run up to 80 kilometers per hours that's fast.
