

Does your home, workplace, school or community group have outdated or broken technology and do you know where it goes when your done with it?

Anyone can solve the problem of Ewaste by asking what happens to it.

Resource is a not-for-profit, worker-owned cooperative dedicated to responsible solutions starting with re use, minimising waste to landfill, creating meaningful employment and educating our community about waste minimisation.

We are always here to talk to any organisations about Ewaste solutions including collection and donation.

We look forward to sharing our services with the community who want to make a real difference with waste reduction. Resource has the experience and capacity to fulfil your Ewaste needs and we continue to seek opportunities to create a more sustainable impact on the enviroment.

RESOURCE

- WORK COOPERATIVE -

South Hobart Tipshop

E-Waste (electrical waste) does not need to go to landfill. Resource, as a not-for-profit, worker's cooperative, is dedicated to minimising waste, creating sustainable local employment and providing education to the community about waste minimisation. We have over 20 years of expertise in materials management, re-use and recycling and have developed solid working relationships with the industry to support keeping as much E-Waste out of landfill as we can.

We can accept any of the following items at the tipshop drop-off area whether they are working or not:

Desktop computers
Laptops and tablets
Hard drives
Cables and wiring
Servers
Network switches
Mobile phones
Car and truck batteries
Power tools
Computer parts
UPS
Tumble dryers
Aircon units
Smart boards
Welders

We currently cannot accept any of the following items if they are broken:

Televisions
Monitors
Keyboards and mice
Printers
CD, DVD and VHS players
Other white goods
Household appliances

Resource is always exploring responsible new ways to broaden the range of items we can recycle.

When we receive goods, we evaluate them for resale potential.

We sell refurbished computers, computer components and electrical items via our dedicated Computers and Electricals departments both in-store and online.

Unlike other Ewaste organisations we process all items deemed to be end of life by hand, on-site in South Hobart, dismantling computers and separating out the different components to be recycled off-site for their precious materials.

This provides sustainable employment in our local community. Working with the industry and government to ensure the best possible outcomes from recycling end of life products

Please be assured that all computers, hard drives and any devices with the capacity to store information will be wiped of data using secure data destruction methods
