➤ EARLY OFFER CLOSING DATES 2019

If you're interested in applying to Uni and receiving a conditional offer* before you've sat your exams, then there's still chance to apply to some of the early offer schemes around Australia.

* A "conditional offer" means it's based on your predicted ATAR / OP score. It's not guaranteed, you'll have to achieve your predicted or higher score to be able to accept the offer. Most offers from Uni, but not all, are issued on this proviso.

If you know where you want to study and what you want to do, then you could save yourself some stress by knowing you already have an offer in the pipeline and an application in. Then you can knuckle down to getting the best ATAR you possibly can.

Here are the closing dates:

(Universities are listed in alphabetical order)

Australian Catholic University's Community Achiever Program \(CAP\) closing dates for each campus are:

Ballarat - Wednesday 28 August

North Sydney - Tuesday 3 September

Strathfield - Tuesday 10 September

To enrol in Campion College Early Acceptance Scheme, you'll need to get your application in before the ATAR release date, we suggest you aim for 1 December 2019.

La Trobe's ASPIRE program application closing date is 31 August 2019.

Macquarie Uni's Leaders and Achievers early entry scheme closes Monday 26 August 2019.

Torrens Uni Early Entry Program for QLD & NSW students apply before September 27, 2019

University of New England Early Entry applications close Friday 27 September 2019.

The University of Notre Dame Early Offer Program applications close 31 July 2019.

University of Sydney Early Offer Year 12 \(E12\) Scheme Applications for E12 (via SRS) close on 30 September 2019. They also offer the Future Leaders Scheme nominations open in August 2019 and on time nominations close 30 September 2019.

University of Wollongong's Early Admission Program applications open 1 August and close 30 August 2019.

Western Sydney University HSC True Reward are due to open soon and the application closing date will also be published. You'll have to register your interest if you'd like to be updated on when the applications open and close.

Not all Institutions have a program that you can apply to directly, but some have the Schools Recommendation Scheme (SRS) which you can apply through via UAC. The closing date for SRS through UAC is Monday 30 September 2019. Participating institutions include:

- Australian Catholic University \(ACU\)
- Australian National University \(ANU\)
- Charles Sturt University \(CSU\)
- International College of Management, Sydney \(ICMS\)
- Macquarie University
- National Art School \(NAS\)
- SAE Creative Media Institute \(SAE\)
- Top Education Institute \(TOP\)
- University of Canberra \(UC\)
- University of New England \(UNE\)
- University of Newcastle \(UON\)
- The University of Sydney
- University of Technology Sydney \(UTS\)
- Western Sydney University

There's plenty more information on our website about early offers, if you'd like to read more about these programs.

➤ TAC OPENING DATES 2019

If you're looking at applying to Uni in 2020, and you want to apply through one of the Tertiary Admission Centres (TAC), you'll be able to get your applications started, or done, really soon.

Open dates

For Universities in New South Wales and the ACT, apply through UAC – they're already OPEN (they opened on 3 April this year).

There may be fees associated with lodging applications through TACs. If you get your applications done soon, then you may be eligible for the "early bird" fees. It's worth doing if you want to save money as the early fees can be significantly reduced.

We'll be posting more soon about the key dates you'll need to be aware of (closing dates, offers etc.), what else you can apply for through TAC's (admission schemes, financial aid and more), as well as how to apply.

Keep watching the Study Work Grow website for up to date information.

➤ MANAGE YOUR PARENTS' ATAR ANXIETY

This time of the year can be stressful for students, and their parents worrying doesn't help. If you feel under pressure from your parents, we have found a great blog about how you can help ease their anxiety.

Read the blog here: <https://clueylearning.com.au/blog/how-to-manage-your-parents-atar-anxiety/>

➤ ATAR REVISION HELP

With end of year exams looming, you might need a little extra help or motivation to get studying.

Past papers are a good way to practise. Here's a great resource for past exam papers in your state.

We've also found a few other courses or programs that may help.

▪ NSW

Matrix Education offer term-time and holiday HSC preparation courses.

Talent 100 also offer in-term and holiday courses to help you with your HSC's.

The University of Sydney are running HSC Preparation courses for Years 10-12.

InspirED hold face-to-face events, have a study app and have simulated HSC exams to help you prepare.

Prime Education have HSC Exam Preparation courses too.

Aurora College HSC Study days offers online revision classes for all NSW Department of Education schools. They're for rural, remote or metropolitan students to connect and revise with other students from across the state. Experts, experienced teachers and HSC markers will present HSC examination advice and up to date information on course content.

Cru Camps have a range of study camps running from 28 September to 4 October. For Year 10, 11 and 12 students, to help you prepare for your HSC.

If there's nothing listed on this post for your state, then maybe try searching online, asking at school or in community groups.

You can look for exam revision resources (past papers, study tips etc.), workshops happening near you, or find tutors that could help you study better for your upcoming exams.

➤ HAVE YOU HEARD OF THE FEYNMAN TECHNIQUE?

Did you know that you're much more likely to retain information if you have taught it to someone else?

The Feynman Technique draws on this fact to help you study more effectively, meaning you can spend less time repeating the same information and more time learning new concepts (or doing something else fun).

Read their blog to find out more about this technique and how it works
– <https://www.crimsoneducation.org/au/blog/feynman-technique>

➤ TEENAGE VOLUNTEERING ABROAD

Projects Abroad run a series of specialised overseas volunteering programs tailored specifically to teenagers aged 15-18. These programs are a great way to step outside your comfort zone and help make a difference in communities around the world. They have trips that run all throughout the year, with most designed to fit in around the school holidays. Trips run to a variety of countries all around the world. You can choose from a wide variety of volunteer activities, including education, medicine, sports, journalism, cultural immersion, and more.

You will be placed with other volunteers your age. Even if you have never been overseas before, Project Abroad staff will be with you every step of the way to make sure you have the best experience possible.

If you are interested, you can read more about the programs on offer here: <https://www.projects-abroad.com.au/trip-format/high-school-specials/>

➤ THE ESSENTIAL OPEN DAY CHECKLIST

Once you've decided you'll be visiting some open days, here's our ultimate checklist to help you get organised and get the most out of each open day:

Before you go:

1. List which Uni's and courses you are interested in & the main criteria that appeal to you, e.g.:
  - Location
  - Reputation
  - Facilities
  - Career / internship opportunities
  - Course prerequisites
  - Alternative pathways on to that course
  - Core modules
  - Majors choices
  - Resources available
  - Contact hours per week
  - Additional hours of study required per week
  - Support services available
  - Career outcomes for that course
2. Search which open days are on, you can search online, or if you're a member of Study Work Grow you can check our events calendar or use the Study Work Grow Open Day Guide 2019.
3. Register online (not all open days require you to register, but most will).
4. Add the dates to your calendar & set up reminders.
5. Download the programs, directions / transportation details, and a map of the campus (or print them off). Channel your inner show planning ninja – remember the way you planned your show bag route, it's the same idea.
6. Highlight the events that most interest you at each open day.

7. Make a short planner for each event based around the workshops / talks / information sessions / tours you've identified – you don't want to make all the effort of going and miss out on something essential.
8. Make a list of questions you'd like answered.
9. Ask a friend, parent or sibling to come with you.

On the day

1. Make sure you get there early to make the most of the day. Wear comfy, practical clothes. Remember a pen and all your paperwork (or your phone if you've downloaded it all).
2. Attend all the events you have highlighted.
3. Speak with lecturers, current students and staff to ask about:
  - the course
  - career outcomes
  - Uni life
  - costs
  - the social scene
  - the realities of living and studying there
  - the pros and cons
  - useful hints and tips
4. Find out what support services are available to you – financial, study, mental health, health, etc.
5. Take a campus tour and see the facilities including libraries, cafes, banks, book stores, security services, etc.
6. Check out the accommodation options nearby.
7. See what social clubs and local activities are available for students.
8. Grab the freebies, enter the competitions and sample the food available.

After the open day

- Talk to the person you went with, see if their opinions and impressions tally with your own.
- Make some notes about the Uni; you have enough to remember with all your study and there's no point wasting your trip.
- If the open day confirmed your choice of Uni or course, then start your applications sooner rather than later. Starting while it's fresh in your mind means one less thing to worry about down the track when exams are looming.
- Follow the Uni on Facebook and keep up to date with what's going on.

For more information about Open Days, and to access a copy of a comprehensive list of all the Open Days happening in 2019, you can download the Study Work Grow Open Day Guide 2019.

➤ JOB SPOTLIGHT

PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICER

What do they do?

PR Officers (aka chief communications officer or corporate communications officer) are responsible for ensuring that communications within an organisation (between management, employees and shareholders), and outside of the organisation (to existing customers, target audience and press) are both positive and effective.

Their job is to make sure that the company's strategies, goals and achievements are understood by everyone in the organisation and the public. As well as creating a positive public image and reputation.

If you're a fantastic communicator (verbal, non-verbal, listening and written), with excellent people skills, and an analytical mind, this could be an exciting and challenging career for you to consider.

“Public relations specialists make flower arrangements of the facts, placing them so the wilted and less attractive petals are hidden by sturdy blooms.” – Alan Harrington

Duties:

- plan, develop and implement public relation strategies and marketing campaigns
- create effective communication with internal and external key people

- write, edit and publish newsletters, in-house magazines, pamphlets and brochures
- advise and manage communications and organisation image in crisis situations
- monitor and react to public opinion
- prepare budgets and budget reports
- respond to enquiries from the public, media and other organisations
- prepare reports in accordance with organisational requirements
- make public presentations
- organise special events such as conferences, product launches, open days, visits, and exhibitions
- conduct internal communication courses, workshops and media training
- plan, develop and manage brand identity

Skills required:

- all round people person
- analytical skills
- excellent oral and written communication skills
- be able to write concisely and persuasively
- organised
- ability work to deadlines and under pressure
- good technology skills including design programs, social media platforms and a range of other hard and software

Pathways

Learn the basics of social media and office skills, gain experience and work your way up. Obtain a VET qualification such as a Diploma in Communications or Media and apply for entry level positions in this industry.

A University degree with a major in public relations, e.g. Bachelor of Communication (Public Relations), Bachelor of Media and Communication, or similar. A degree could allow you to apply for higher ranking jobs.
