Dear Mothers,

As my term as President of the Mothers' Club comes to an end I would just like to say thankyou to all who have helped me in any way large or small during the last two years and I am hoping you will continue to give your support to your new President, Mrs. Nora Tobin, who for many years has been a very willing member of our Club.

Sincerely yours

MONTHLY NEWSLETTER OF THE BEAUMARIS NORTH STATE SCHOOL

April, 1968.

Dear Parents,

During my reading I came upon a delightful piece of prose which I would like to share with you. When you have read it, ponder a while, and give it thought.

" Somewhere in a schoolroom under the care of an unknown teacher is a child who in his own time, grown to maturity, will lead the world away from war toward peace.

The affection planted in that child's life by wise guidance, the sense of right values with which he is constantly surrounded; the integrity and initiative that are fostered in his unfolding life will come to fruition in a mighty service to the human race.

It is a wise providence that no one can tell which of the millions of babies born each year is to be this saviour of tomorrow. The children of the people, - of all people - rich and poor of every race and creed, may have the chance to be this particular person.

And when through honest growth, proved merit, and wise leadership the pilots of tomorrow take their places at the helm, we want them to be surrounded and supported by their fellows likewise schooled in the simple and abiding principles of democracy.

With this purpose and in this faith, the wise teacher carries on. This faith has been good enough for the teachers and prophets of all ages who have understood the power of human aspiration and growth.

This faith of the teacher - your faith and mine as we look into the eager faces of youth - is the hope of tomorrow, a hope that cannot fail. It is bigger than all the fears and partisanships of our time. Let us renew our faith."

Yours faithfully,
J. T. Gardiner,
Headmaster.

It is rather trite to say that education is in a state of flux as it always has been, and, I hope, always will be.

Two recent studies, one from overseas, bring out two salient points which could possibly influence our thoughts on the direction our educational planning should face.

One well-substantiated study suggests that seventy per cent of pupils in schools
