

Little Voices Loud Futures

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Children's Day

This year's National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Children's Day theme 'Little Voices, Loud Futures' fires that ambition. We are raising awareness for the bright futures of our children and the potential for their voices to pave a new path for our nation. As always, we support the voices of our children in calling for a future where they are proud and empowered by their culture to speak their truth and be listened to by all Australians.

Future's

VOICES TO PAVE A NEW PATH FOR OUR NATION

People's voices need to be heard, and this starts with children.
Yes, their voices may be small, but their ideas are big. We can all have a brighter future with their ideas.

Our voices matter. Our voices matter.

Young souls can create a new♥ picture for♥ everyone!

Aboriginal people need to support their young generations to help them thrive.
Young voices must be heard.
For the younger generations have their opinions and they can make their voice.

Injustice ~~is~~ incorrect!

Young generations will realise the injustice
and fight. Younger souls will find
the wrong things and deal with it. They'll build a future! By Jasmine

Young children with a bright future they create their own paths. They have little voices but a loud future.
They grow up with little voices and a strong heart. They have a courageous and a strong heart.

They need support to fulfill their loud future.

They have loving parents who will help
and support their bright future.

Kids should have a voice.

No matter what they are like.

We acknowledge them.
