

The Art Factory again opened up its doors and welcomed a bunch of our budding young VCE artists and a motley crew of staff to participate in a life drawing workshop. The workshop was run as an optional afterschool activity and many of our students jumped at the opportunity to improve their drawing skills and experience. The artists worked with a variety of materials to capture the challenging poses the model was presenting.

For VCE students and staff who missed out this time, there will likely be more workshops later in the year so stay tuned!

- Emma Lumsden

