

On the 30th of May, select students from the Notre Dame and St Paul's campuses attended the Hobsons Bay City Councils Interfaith Connections and Reconciliation Day at the Holy Trinity Anglican Church in Williamstown. The day provided us with great insight into the faith of other local schools, as well as the community. We began with a smoking ceremony where we cleansed ourselves with the smoke of native Australian tree leaves. We were then very lucky to hear from a panel of guest speakers who spoke to us about what reconciliation means to them and we were given the opportunity to ask them any pondering questions we had. To conclude the day, Yarrabah dancers performed a traditional dance from their culture. Overall, the day provided the staff and students in attendance a great opportunity to expand our knowledge and gain insight to other cultures. On behalf of the students who attended, I'd like to thank the Hobsons Bay City Council for inviting us to share such a memorable day, and the College Faith team for giving us the opportunity to expand our Faith network.
