EASTER HAT PARADE - 1ST APRIL - REPORTED ON 3RD NOVEMBER

Today was the Easter Hat Parade. I remembered the colourful easter bunny hats filled with pompoms and glitter that we made some days before today. The school was filled with playful children on the playground. The bell rang and it was time to go into our classrooms.

The 3/4 classroom lined up in front of the door waiting to go inside. Mrs Sims led us in and told us to do spelling, there was a clatter of pencils and erasers as we all started writing down our spelling list words, rushing.

We put our hard work on the pile and to our surprise Mrs Sims told us we could play games on our chromebooks. The clatter came again as we rushed to line up. One by one we came marching to our desks proudly ready to open our chromebooks up and play games.

There was a hurricane of typing in passwords as we opened up our favourite games and played to our content.

After a pretty long time we were told we were going out soon for the Easter hat Parade, the Teachers handed out our hats that we decorated carefully and we lined up in front of the door patiently.

We were led outside to sit in a neat line, we of course sat in a pretty uneven line but it was a little neat. Parents started arriving and there was food being placed on a table for Parents.

Then all of a sudden there was music playing about easter bunnies. It was very cheerful but not really amusing to the older children. We had to hop around in circles which was a bit embarrassing to be honest.

The 5/6 went first and none of them hopped. A few circles later some of them hopped but weren't really enthusiastic about it. After a few minutes the 3/4 got up and hopped, 2 or 3 people didn't hop at all, then the Kinder/1/2 hopped around then after the some was over we all sat down on the concrete and the parents clapped.

Then the egg hunt was about to begin, we got our baskets that we made and wired for the teachers to tell us if we could go, they called out the youngest to oldest.

Once we were all in the nature garden, we looked at all the chocolate eggs scattered on the ground. Everyone picked them up quickly, then the Teachers said to only get 2 or 3, so everyone gave their remaining eggs to people who didn't get any.

After the egg hunt it was time for recess, everyone took out their recess and sat with their parents. The Chocolate eggs weren't really that good.

When the Parade finished we all thought it was great!
