The Dreamy Hillside Residence

Containing large open spaces and bi-fold doors to make the house feel connected to the outdoors, the modern dwelling is also sustainable and low-cost as it uses shipping containers, perfect for small families with no children.

A modern and chic abode designed for those craving a home for peace and luxury. With a spacious open floor plan, utilising two shipping containers placed next to one another, the living room, dining and kitchen all open up to each other and are connected.

A design that sustains the rustic and industrial exterior look to a shipping container with black textured walls with steel framed windows and also incorporates curved shapes.

This residence excels in maintaining a large office study suitable for a working from home set-up. The incorporated extra roof space also serves as a spacious rooftop balcony. Beautiful views can be viewed from the stylish office on the second floor through the wide curved glass, as well from the large decking area in the front.

Divine views of the hillside the home is built around, creates a comfortable working environment in the private study. As the home incorporates large windows, for extra comfort during cold seasons, the use of double glazed windows provides security and safety.
