

Australian Government

THREATENED SPECIES BAKE OFF 2020

Bake a threatened species-themed dessert to raise awareness of Australia's threatened species and Threatened Species Day!

This year's theme is 'What's in your backyard?'

We're encouraging you to get out and about in your local area to discover the remarkable plants and animals that call your backyard, local park or school home and use them as inspiration for your #TSBakeOff entry.

To support you in your backyard expedition, we have teamed up with Bush Blitz and their Backyard Species Discovery Project on iNaturalist. It is a fun and easy way to identify species and contributes valuable information for scientists to understand where species are living.

To enter, simply upload a photo or video of your baked creation to social media using the hashtag #TSBakeOff or email us at tsbakeoff@environment.gov.au.

Get your entries in by Tuesday 8 September!

To find out more about the #TSBakeOff or the Backyard Species Discovery Project visit bit.ly/tsbakeoff

CHRIS BATH
TV PRESENTER

DR SALLY BOX
THREATENED SPECIES COMMISSIONER

DR REBECCA WEST
ECOLOGIST