Aitken College Year 9 Service Project

On 17 November, I attended Aitken College Greenvale to hear and see the “Service Projects” that Year 9 students had prepared for presentation. Five groups presented on five different projects:

- Restoration of Kingsford Smith Ulm Reserve-Glenroy
- Food collection for homeless people
- Sunbury Radio Service project
- Montessori Kindergarten Sensory activity
- Aitken Wallaby Grass Plantation

I thank all the presenters for their input and the College for inviting me. It was great to see the students learning how to liaise with other organisations, such as councils, charities and community radio, working as a group, leadership, what can go right (and wrong) in a project and public speaking. All the projects were interesting, and I would be pleased to come back next year and see what the next group of students are doing.

Kind regards
