

Women should be paid the same as men.

I believe that females should be paid the same as men because, females can be just as strong as males, for example a recent academic study showed that under extreme conditions women are able to survive for longer. So females should be paid the same, because women can prove that they are just as strong and deserve to be paid the same. Also if women were paid equally to men it would help out in households.

If women were paid the same it would help with child care. A report from the institute for women's policy research found that if women were paid fairly, single women's income would rise by 13.4 percent, and married women's income would increase by 6 percent. This also would increase the ability of women from all economic backgrounds to provide basic support to their families including food, education, and child care. Studies also show women can be more productive in the workplace too.

As workers, women have some advantages over men that should justify higher pay. One study found that women are more productive and less distracted. By showing society that women can't be discriminated against through their pay checks, it will slowly eat away other issues to do with gender and benefits all in the long run.

So in conclusion, I think women deserve to be paid the same as men. And those reasons prove that.
