One sunny morning kookaburra wished he could see his best friend in a gigantic Rainforest where poisonous snakes and scary bears lived.

Kookaburra found his best friend in the rainforest, Cookie Bear. He is kind and fuzzy and wears a red shirt so that kookaburra can find him glowing in the dark rainforest.

Kookaburra was the most talented kookaburra in the whole rainforest. Kookaburra made the sweetest honey, and his best customer was Cookie Bear. Little did they know the three headed snakes were stealing kookaburras made honey by camouflaging and hiding as a tree. Cookie bear discovered the three headed snakes sipping on cookie bears honey. They froze like a deer in headlights, they quickly slithered away with honey all over there mouth.

his cave because he likes

He wondered about the cool

One bright morning Koloba imagined she jumped over the river and climbed to the top of the giant tree. She would always say to her friend small Bird "You have to try not to bump into me."

She would jump up to the sky and danced for 2 min and land on the hard ground. Bird would fly so high that she could see Koloba jumping around and she ^{laughed} laughed. Koloba thought once that she could fly because bird helped Koloba to float in the air.
