

WHAT TO DO WHEN SOMEONE IS...

MEAN-ON-PURPOSE!

MEAN-ON-PURPOSE BEHAVIOUR IS GOING TO HAPPEN FROM TIME TO TIME, SO IT'S REALLY IMPORTANT THAT WHEN IT DOES, WE HAVE A PLAN FOR HOW TO DEAL WITH IT – WITH THE CONFIDENCE OF A NINJA!

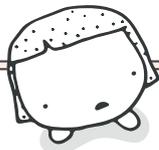

You know what will help? Practice!! Read those scenarios then write down your plan of what you'd do next.

You are playing with your friends and ask them to wait while you quickly go back to class for your jumper. When you get back, all of your friends have disappeared!

.....
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

A kid in your class keeps teasing your red hair, calling you the 'Ginger Ninja'. You have asked them to stop because it hurts your feelings, but they keep doing it!

.....
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

You are playing basketball and there is one kid who is really rough, calls you names and never passes the ball to you... But seems to play fair with everyone else...

.....
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

As you walk past a group of kids, one of them sticks out their foot, trips you over and you skin your knees.

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

Two of your friends are talking about having a sleepover, which you are not invited to, just loudly enough so you can hear them...

.....

.....

.....

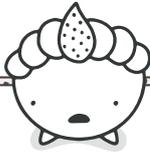

.....

.....

.....

.....

One of your friends takes your hat, hides it and won't tell you where it is! You're not allowed to play without it and you're starting to get really upset...

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

You are standing in line waiting at the canteen when another kid pushes you out of the way and stands in front of you, taking your place.

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....