Director of Aquinas College

"In year 11 & 12 I decided to complete my Diploma of Sport followed by the Cert III in Fitness. The courses were really practical and easy to understand. As an elite baseball player, the access to the Diamond Athlete Development program was a game-changer. It opened my eyes to what it means to be an elite athlete as we covered both the physical and mental aspects of sport. This is something that makes this course different from any other course I have heard of and created huge value for me and my family I have since completed my Cert IV in Fitness with them and was employed as a Strength and Conditioning Coach before signing a professional baseball contract with the Oakland Athletics and moving to America."
