UMM is that feeling you get when something feels off or unsafe in the workplace.

Young workers have higher injury rates than other worker age groups, so WorkSafe Victoria has launched the Feeling UMM...? campaign to help you understand your rights and know what to do next if you're feeling uncomfortable at work.

Questions For Your First Day at Work

Download Questions for Your First Day at Work

You might have a lot of questions about your new job on the first day. Here's a few things you can ask, if they haven't been mentioned in your induction.

As you read each question, think about how you would ask it in your own way.

Feeling UMM...?
Your first days in the workplace

Entering the workforce for the first time can be intimidating and exciting all at the same time. You will likely have lots of questions about your new job and that's okay. You can ask your manager or a colleague any questions, no matter how silly they seem, as they help keep you safe at work.

Here are a few questions you can ask if they haven't been covered in your induction or you would like more information.

Go-to people at work	Doing your job	Questions that make you go UMM...	Bonus questions
Who do I ask about my hours/ pay/breaks or if I need to change my shift or availability? Who do I contact if I am unable to make a shift due to an illness? What is our policy around sick leave? Who is my buddy, trainer, or supervisor to help me while I learn? Do we have a Health and Safety Representative (HSR)? Who do I tell if I think a staff member or customer's behaviour is not right?	What do I do if I see something unsafe? Can you please show me how to do... again? What do I do if I get injured? If I'm not sure about how to do something, where can I get help?	Who do I ask if I need to go to the bathroom? What do I do if I need to take a break? Where do I take my break? How often do I take a break?	Where are the first aid kit and emergency exits? Can you please send me/print out the induction information?

If you still have any further questions about your rights in your workplace, you can always contact WorkSafe's advisory service on 1800 136 088.

Jumpstart your career in Marine and Antarctic Science

Jumpstart your career in Marine and Antarctic Science

Developed by researchers from the Institute for Marine and Antarctic Science, this unit covers the origins of life in the oceans, as well as iconic and 'weird' marine life. It provides insight into a day in the life of an oceanographer and explores topics including technologies for ocean science, responses to climate change, threatened species, and the sustainable management of marine resources, including fisheries.

Benefits

- Completing the unit will increase your chance of receiving a place on our XAS101 Maria Island marine biology experience.
- You will also receive credit towards the Bachelor of Marine and Antarctic Science degree.

UNIVERSITY of TASMANIA

Details

- This unit is offered via the University Connections Program at the University of Tasmania - it is an online program.
- It is open to Year 11 and 12 students.
- Australian and permanent resident students will not incur any costs for the program.
