

The NOTRE DAME COLLEGE Instrumental Music Programme

The College invites all students to be a part of the music programme at Notre Dame College this year. The benefits of learning a musical instrument will provide rich cultural, social and academic experiences.

Notre Dame College provides a specialist programme for the training of young people in the area of music. The Music tutors are an outstanding group of educators, all of which are prominent musicians within in the community. The music programme is constantly evolving to suit the needs of our students. The programme covers classical, contemporary and jazz streams and all students have the opportunity to sit for graded performance exams that are nationally and internationally recognised.

Students receive 1/1 individual lessons or have the option of group lessons on their chosen instrument. Group lessons are ideal for younger musicians who are curious about learning an instrument in less formal environment whilst being more cost effective.
