INTRODUCTION / BACKGROUND INFORMATION 29-8-2023

What sacred aboriginal site is in the Northern Territory?
Uluru is located in the southern part of the Northern Territory in central Australia. Today you will be learning about Uluru's animals, climate and weather and last but not least, cultural significance. let's get to it!

ANIMALS SURROUNDING ULURU

There are many different species of animals that call Uluru home. This includes the malleefowl, bilby, dingo, rufous-hare wallaby, kangaroos and many more. A special animal I will talk about today is the bilby. The bilby has a long bandicoot muzzle, big ears, a long tail, soft, silky fur, a big tongue and is 29-55cm long. The role of the bilby is to dig dens and burrows so that's why the bilby's pouch is towards the back so dirt doesn't get in. The bilby communicates by scent marking due to its poor eyesight. The bilby is now becoming an endangered species but due to preservation they will be okay.
