

HEALESVILLE SANCTUARY

Monday morning I woke up at 7:00am to run and get dressed. At 8:20am we bolted to school. When we were lining up and rushing to the bus because we didn't want to be late I was a bit nervous that I was going to vomit. When we zoomed onto the bus I thought I wouldn't be able to sit next to one of my friends but I got to sit next to Noah. Me and Noah were quietly chatting the whole time and to be honest I actually didn't feel sick.

Once we were off the bus we past lots of animals and then we got to the big and lazy goana I expected it to be alot smaller but it was huge. After that we opened the doors like ningas because we were in the bird enclosure the first bird in there was really cool because it was so still that I thought it wasn't alive I also said that to other birds so I named it the statue enclosure and last but definatly not least the bird show called the spirits of the sky my favourite bird was a beautiful big cockatoo it was unbelievable what tricks they have learned the kokcatoo was glyding over the crowd with the pretty shades of yellow uder it's wings and the last bird was a big falcon that cracked open an egg with a rook all by it's self.
