

Great Tsunami Save

Written By Bree, MLS

It was the most scorching hot day of the decade and Chloe fluttered with excitement as she reached the soft golden sand. She felt the sand trickling through her toes. Her twin sister Samantha was the complete opposite of Chloe. Samantha was dull and gloomy. She loved it most when the sky around her was dark, and gloomy. On the other hand, Chloe was always joyful. Except, whenever she was around Samantha, a foreboding feeling made the hairs on the back of her neck stick up. Suddenly in unison the twins both rapidly stared at the water. Samantha liked it because the waves were so humongous, that she thought there would be a tsunami. Chloe liked it because the waves were the best to surf on. Samantha gritted her teeth in horror because whenever Chloe saw waves, she freaked out.

Samantha and Chloe grabbed their surfboards and rushed to the water's edge. Chloe leapt onto the board and paddled rapidly to where the waves began. She skillfully turned the board to face the shore and felt the wave start to lift the board. She felt a shiver of excitement as she stood up and started surfing. Chloe stood up for 5 whole minutes, but Samantha could only stay up for 5 seconds. Samantha went back to shore feeling a heap of jealousy from Chloe trickle through her bones. Meanwhile Chloe kept surfing. Samantha was screaming her lungs off because the ground was shaking more and more every single second. Their family knew that every time there was an earthquake, there was a tsunami.....

Chloe looked towards the shore and wondered to herself 'Why is everyone leaving? Where are they going?' People were running in all directions, but Chloe kept on surfing. She didn't realise that there was a gigantic wave forming behind her at a rapid speed. The wave was getting bigger and bigger by the second. Samantha watched on from the shore, not knowing what to do, Chloe was too far away and couldn't hear her screaming. All she could do was stare and hope that Chloe would turn around before it was too late and she was engulfed by the monstrous waves.. She cared about her sister (even though sometimes Chloe could be a bit annoying from time to time.) Samantha knew she couldn't just stand and watch for any longer. She had to think of a plan and fast!

She was trying to think of a plan but she was completely blank with ideas. She kept saying to herself "What to do, what to do???" Then she got it. It just hit her. Samantha would risk her life for Chloe. She yanked up her board and paddled to Chloe. She twisted and turned, weaving around bits of seaweed and small rocks flying everywhere.

"Oh hi Samantha, what are you doing all the way out here?" called Chloe calmly.

"You need to come to shore NOW!!!" Samantha replied with a worried sounding tone.

Samantha clutched onto Chloe and was paddling rapidly. The waves kept coming faster and faster. The girls were getting worried and so were their parents. Chloe was screaming in horror. Samantha was as cool as an ice block. She knew she was going to make it, she just had to keep telling herself that they were going to make it back to shore safely. No one in Samantha's family had seen or heard Samantha scream before but they were about to.

"AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH!!!" screamed Samantha.

"What was that?" Chloe questioned "What just came out of your mouth?"

"I don't know." replied Samantha. "That felt good." Samantha said. She was smiling for the first time. Chloe couldn't believe her eyes or ears for that matter. The girls were just about to reach the shore, when suddenly a giant wave came crashing down on top of them.

Out of nowhere Samantha jumped up, screeching "WOOHOO!!!!!!!!!!!!!!" No one could believe anything anymore, the girls had just done what seemed impossible, they had survived the gigantic tsunami waves. Samantha was repeatedly saying to Chloe "thank you!"

Chloe was still trying to get out of the water while Samantha was pouncing on her in joy. If Chloe had been listening she would never have found her beach life. Although Samantha was jumping on Chloe, she was still the most grateful person she had ever met.

"How could I ever thank you enough?" Chloe called

"Weeeell, you could buy me an ice-cream and take me to the beach everyday. Oh and also be my slave for the rest of our life." Samantha demanded.

Chloe replied by saying "I think I'll pass thanks! Also you can be VERY annoying!"