

ANNIVERSARY of National Apology Day

Monday, February 13th, marked the Anniversary of the National Apology to Australia's First peoples, the Aboriginal people, by former Prime Minister, Kevin Rudd.

At St. Brendan's we are so fortunate to have many Aboriginal families at our school and we commemorate this significant day each year.

Principal Paula, Deputy Joel Brian, Kasi Kelly our Aboriginal Liaison and Catholic Identity Leader, Leanne Pellegrino attended the Apology Day breakfast, held in the Queen's Gardens with some students representing our School. It is an important moment to remember and reflect on the pain and heart ache experienced by many Aboriginal families in our history and recognise moments of healing and the power of saying 'sorry'.
