

Ah, book week.

It's a time for celebration.

A time for books.

A time for . . . costume parades.

I'm out in the wild, in the middle of a school playground, hoping to spot some creatures – I mean,
students, now!

Here, we have the TOILET MUMMY costume . . .

and what I like to call The Kid Who Forgot!

The classic costume.

The confusing costume.

The classically confusing costume!

The kid who goes

WAAAAAY

too far!

The kid who doesn't go far enough!

Roar.

Ahhhhh. The Recycled From Last Year costume.
An oldie but a goodie.

The BEST costume idea ever ...

... that everybody else had too!

Rookie mistake, kid.

Oh.

Here, we have the OVERENTHUSIASTIC teacher...

and the UNenthusiastic teacher.

The literary costume.

The BIZARRE costume.

The I GUESS IT'S TECHNICALLY A BOOK costume.

The HALLOWEEN KID costume.

The completely awkward costume.

The completely MESSy costume.

And finally! We have found the rarest costume of all costumes!

The completely PERFECT costume!

And here are Mum and Dad, wearing the very popular . . .

LET'S NEVER DO THIS AGAIN costume!