

Niina Marni/Hello!

My name is Amelia Lambden and I am very excited to have the opportunity to learn and teach alongside the wonderful educators and children at Curiosity ELC .

I have worked in childcare and preschool settings for the last 16 years in a variety of sites and roles. I am currently deferred from my teaching degree at Uni SA and I will be going back to study next year.

I'm a mum to 3 children and my husband and I love camping, learning about the environment and we adore all creatures great and small – even the less desirable ones.

I'm a lover of children's books (I could open my own library), learning about new innovative education and care practices and researching alongside children to discover new possibilities and answers to the big questions they ask.

I will be in the centre doing relief work and I am looking forward to meeting and chatting to you all.
