

NO HOMEWORK!!!

I strongly believe that there should be no homework at all!

Here are some reasons why.....

Firstly, I think if we're getting homework, we're not working hard enough at school. Maybe teachers should make kids do more work at school instead of making them do homework! Because kids would rather be able to relax when they get home after a hard days work than do homework.

Secondly, kids have a lot to do already when they get home like chores and sports. So if they have homework, they're either missing out on the exercise they get doing sports, or not being able to do chores and get in trouble by their parents. No one likes getting in trouble by their parents.

Thirdly, how many kids do you think "like" homework. Almost none of them do. They would much rather have time to do stuff they want to do and have some free time playing outside or on something like an X-box. Because homework well and truly sucks! Plus, it doesn't give you any exercise.

Therefore, I strongly recommend that teachers ban homework once and for all!

By Jack Van Hoom

Two Stars and a Wish

Jack ✓

Your opinion in your orientation and conclusion was clear and strong.

Your language used appealed to all ages, such as "Homework well and truly sucks".

You could have given more information or examples for each reason.