19th March

OSHC Newsletter – 19th March

Over the past fortnight, children have participated in a range of engaging experiences that supported creativity, collaboration, and active participation.

During this period, we acknowledged International Women's Day, recognising the important contributions women make in our families, school community, and society. This provided an opportunity for meaningful conversations about respect, appreciation, and the influence of strong role models in our lives. Children also took part in a sustainability project using recycled boxes, where they designed and built their own creations. This hands-on activity encouraged creativity, problem-solving, and environmental awareness, while allowing children to work together and explore their ideas.

It has been wonderful to observe children engaging enthusiastically in both structured and child-led experiences, strengthening friendships and building a strong sense of community within the service.

Thank you for your continued support.
