

Writing is better than maths

Its clear that writings better than maths here are some good reasons why

I believe writing is better than maths because you have more creativity and freedom in your work. You are doing is fun and simple its also really easy to find a topic to write about. Secondly maths is confusing and boring. Division addition subtraction multiply BIDMAS numerals i seriously dont get how people enjoy this nightmare.

Theres no doubt that children have cried during maths kids behaviour turns to angry sad crazy bored fuming and mad. If maths was a colour it would be grey cause its boring or red because its a CRIME to society.

Here are some examples why writing is superior. One in maths i opened my book and screamed because the in environment i was in it was chaotic but when i opened my book in writing in my own words " this is bussin" and i found out my brain was 100 % but in maths i was brain dead.

In my opinion writing is better than maths because you have more freedom but some people like maths.
