

HEALTHY SOUTH SUMMIT: PLANNING FOR A HEALTHY, EQUITABLE AND SUSTAINABLE SOUTHERN ADELAIDE

THE DAY WILL INCLUDE:

- The history of health promotion in the south of Adelaide and what current activities and structures exist.
- A panel on how government and health system leaders think the leadership and coordination of health promotion to prevent non-communicable disease (NCDs) can be improved.
- How urban planning can prevent NCDs including the development of the Healthy Urban Neighbourhood Transition Tool (HUNTT).
- A hypothetical panel to discuss how the south of Adelaide became the healthiest, most equitable and sustainable region of the world by 2040.

This event will be of interest to policy makers from all sectors, urban planners, researchers, health and social service workers, local government elected members and community members.

9AM – 4PM, FRIDAY 29 NOV

Flinders University, Bedford Park,
Health Sciences Lecture Theatre Complex,
Level 3, Room 3.06 - 3.09

FREE EVENT

Registration

Essential via eventbrite

<https://www.eventbrite.com.au/e/healthy-south-summit-tickets-73776873615>

Supporters

The Healthy South project was funded by Health Translation SA through the Medical Research Future Fund (MRFF) Rapid Applied Research Translation Program undertaken in 2019.

